Food Packaging Hygiene Feb 26 2021 This Brief is concerned with the connection between food packaging and the chemical composition of packaging materials. In terms of the food packaging hygiene, the influence of the containers on the contained foods is discussed. The book explores new and emerging risks related to food packaging materials in connection with the contained commodities. It also discusses the technology of production with relation to the chemical risk in a “Hazard Analysis and Critical Control Point” (HACCP) investigation.

The Influence of Chemistry on New Foods and Traditional ProductsMar 30 2021 This Brief concerns the influence of chemistry in the modern food and beverages industry. The world of traditional foods has been soundlessly but increasingly interconnected with the chemical industry in the last century. Different areas are considered in a multidisciplinary approach: - the production of chemical additives and of non-food components needed in the food industry (e.g. packaging materials) - the regulatory perspective of the whole food production chain - commercialization of food commodities - the problem of food safety from the viewpoint of official auditors with medical or veterinarian competencies - new and emerging risks related to food packaging materials - the assessment of the authenticity of edible products. This Brief includes different viewpoints, ranging from the management of allergens and food additives in the food plant to the complex matter of the formulation of traditional products with the consequent production of “alternative” versions of the same food.

L'ambiente acquoso per il trattamento di opere policrome Jan 20 2023 L'ambiente acquoso, semplice acqua o soluzioni acquose tamponate con eventuale presenza anche di Tensioattivi, Chelanti od Enzimi, rappresenta un importante approccio ad operazioni che con la terminologia tradizionale definiremmo "di pulitura" di opere policrome, ma che ormai è tempo di definire con maggiore precisione, visto che si può trattare di operazioni profondamente diverse: pulitura della superficie dallo sporco di deposito, oppure rimozione di sostanze filmogene applicate con diversa funzione (vernici e strati protettivi, residui di adesivi e consolidanti, ritocchi e ridipinture). L'ambiente acquoso affronta alla radice il problema della tossicità dei materiali, e mette a disposizione un maggior numero di "parametri di controllo", come il pH, le concentrazioni, e la conducibilità, attraverso i quali spesso l'intervento può essere reso meno aggressivo e più selettivo, rispetto ai tradizionali solventi organici.

The Aqueous Environment for Treating Polychrome Works of Art Feb 15 2020 The aqueous environment, simple water or buffered aqueous solutions with the possible presence of surfactants, chelators or enzymes, represents an important approach to operations that with the traditional terminology we would define "cleaning" of polychrome works, but which is now time to define with greater precision, given that it can involve profoundly different operations: cleaning the surface of deposit dirt or removing film-forming substances applied with different functions (paints and protective layers, adhesive and consolidating residues, retouching and repainting). The aqueous environment tackles the problem of material toxicity at its root, and provides a greater number of "control parameters", such as pH, concentrations, and conductivity. Through which often the intervention can be made less aggressive and more selective.00Translation of 'L'ambiente acquoso per il trattamento di manufatti artistici', ISBN 9788863364880, Casa Editrice Il Prato (2019).
